Jenna Pollicino, Senior Vice President of Operations, brings over 20 years of experience in the financial services industry to the Newport Capital Group team. Jenna joined Newport in 2013 and is responsible for managing the day-to-day operating activities, including trading and compliance support, client service and other operating activities connected to Private Wealth clients.

Jenna is extremely passionate about knowing each client on a personal level. She acts as the liaison among our clients, advisors and investment team. Her previous roles included various operations functions such as account administration processes, creation and implementation of portfolios, trading, as well as staff training and development. Prior to working at Newport Capital Group, she worked in New York City in the Private Equity industry. She credits her success, strength, work ethic and adaptability to her experiences starting out in a male-dominated industry. She currently holds Series 7 and Series 63.

Jenna graduated from the University of Delaware with a Bachelor of Science in Business Administration, a concentration in Marketing and an Economics minor. She previously was the First Vice President of Shore Youth Football and Cheer, a local nonprofit organization. Jenna resides in Palm Coast, Florida, with her husband and two sons.
